For almost 80 years, the Main brand has been associated with water heaters, with a reputation for reliability and robustness. The company manufactures and supplies domestic boilers for the entry level sector of the market place, predominantly via independent and second line builders' merchants. It has worked hard to understand the specific needs and requirements of this specialist sector, and has built strong relationships with its distributors and stockists to ensure it continues to deliver a reliable, competitive product, backed by responsive and appropriate service.

Main offers free of charge product training for installers and customised point of sale material for merchants. In addition, the brand is backed by heateam, the service division of Baxi Group. heateam is a dedicated customer service centre that offers technical support and is supported by a national network of highly skilled field engineers. This specialist service provides added value to the product, for the benefit of the merchants and their customers.

Main is introducing a range of SEDBUK Band A boilers for independent merchants in January 2008.

Main Combi range

The Main Combi 24 HE and 30 HE have simple, clean lines and are quick and easy to install. They are rated SEDBUK Band B and meet the latest Building Regulations and have modulating outputs to maximise efficiency. Main can also supply a 24kW SE Combi boiler.

Main System HE range

With outputs of 18, 24 and 28 kW, the SEDBUK Band B rated range of Main System HE boilers features a simple, easy to clean style combined with engineered reliability. Quick and easy to install using a simple pre-plumbed jig, the range has been designed to meet the central heating needs of a variety of properties.

Main Heat Only HE range

The Main HE range features a simple fascia panel incorporating operating status indicators and all controls. Carrying a SEDBUK Band B rating, the choice of 9, 12, 15, 18 and 24kW outputs covers most domestic requirements and the versatile flue options make installation easy in a wide range of locations.
